

Felix Preisser, MD

University Hospital Frankfurt; Frankfurt am Main, Germany

Dr. Felix Preisser was born close to Passau in Bavaria in 1986. Raised close to Hamburg he started his medical studies in Budapest in 2007. After two years abroad, he continued his medical studies in Germany and graduated in 2014 at the Friedrich-Alexander University Erlangen-Nuremberg. In 2014, he started his professional career at the Martini-Klinik in Hamburg. Between July 2017 and July 2018, he spent one year at the University of Montreal Health Center (Centre Hospitalier de l'Université de Montréal - CHUM) for a post-doctoral research fellowship with Professor Pierre I. Karakiewicz. Followed by his fellowship, he continued his medical career in Frankfurt am Main, where he is currently working as a fourth-year resident at the urologic department of the University hospital Frankfurt am Main under the direction of Professor Felix K-H. Chun.