

Raisa Abrams-Pompe, MD

University Medical Center Hamburg-Eppendorf (UKE); Hamburg, Germany

Doctor Raisa S. Abrams-Pompe was born in Hildesheim in 1987. She graduated from medical school Hamburg in 2014 and started her residency at the Martini-Klinik Prostate Cancer Center. After finishing her doctor thesis in 2016, she spent a year as a post-doctoral research fellow at the Cancer Prognostics and Health Outcomes Unit at the University of Montreal Health Center (Centre Hospitalier de l'Université de Montreal – CHUM) from 2016 to 2017. After the research year she continued working at the department of urology at the University Hospital Hamburg-Eppendorf. Currently she is participating in an outpatient clinic rotation in Winsen (Luhe)/Buchholz in der Nordheide. Her research priority is advanced and high-risk prostate cancer with various publications and presentations on national and international congresses. Most recently, the EAU-Guidelines on PSA only recurrence cited one of her publications. Doctor Abrams-Pompe is a member of the German Society of Urology (DGU) and the European Association of Urology (EAU).