The “Brain in Flux – MSCA NeuroTrans Joint Satellite Meeting”, hosted in the city of Gaia, close to the historic center of Porto, will offer you an excellent opportunity to gather new knowledge, show your data, and network with fellow neurotransmitter transporter researchers. Neurotransmitter transporters are becoming more and more important as possible drug targets and therefore, research has been growing over the past few years constantly and significantly.

Up to 150 expert attendees are expected to join this meeting, which will focus on hot topics in neurotransmitter transporter research.

The scientific program will be rich and stimulating with 4 keynote lectures, and 25 talks, as well as short talks by young investigators, selected from abstracts. Two poster sessions will allow plenty of time for interactions to discussions.

- Web presence
- Recognition in pre and post congress publications and mailings
