

Connecting ideas: two centers collaborating on post-viral syndromes

On September 11th, the Federal Ministry of Health commissioned the National Reference Center for Post-viral Syndromes to the Medical University of Vienna.

The Center for Public Health and the Center for Pathophysiology, Infectiology and Immunology now host the National Reference Center. Together, we cordially invite you to an information exchange event to present an overview of the National Reference Center's work and to discuss joint activities of the two centers.
